IHSAA Rule of the Month

Rule 9 - Game Management

- 9-1 Students, parents and fans are not allowed on the playing surface during game time or after the game until the opposing team and officials have left the playing area. Administration, or their designees, from each school is responsible for keeping their fans off the playing surface and in their designated seating areas. Rushing the court or field after games or interfering or attempts to interfere with any contest is not allowed.
- 9-2 Host school administrators are responsible for getting officials to, and from, the officials dressing areas before, during and after contests. Host school administrators are also responsible for letting the visiting teams and fans know where their seating sections will be.
- 9-3 Any conduct or violation of this rule may subject actors to any and all remedial measures available to the local District Board of Control and the IHSAA.

BSU COLLEGE CREDIT

To assist in coaches' education throughout the State of Idaho, The Idaho High School Activities Association in cooperation with the NFHS and Boise State University is continuing an opportunity for Idaho teacher/coaches. Teacher/Coaches can earn (1) college credit from Boise State by taking the Fundamentals of Coaching course developed by the NFHS.

FUNDAMENTALS OF COACHING

This NFHS Fundamentals of Coaching course provides a unique student-centered curriculum for interscholastic teacher/coaches, assisting them in creating a healthy and age-appropriate athletic experience that supports the educational mission of our nation's schools. Please check with your state association to see if this course complies with your state requirements. Upon purchase, an individual will have access to the course for one year.

10 TRUTHS for a High School Coach

By Greg Berge

1. Adversity is inevitable - Adversity finds a way. It is guaranteed. How will you respond? It is one of the great things about high school sports. It teaches lessons that will last a lifetime.

2. Each player is different - All kids are wired differently. Treating kids equally is not possible, but treating them fairly is. Coaches have a challenging job with so many individual personalities and perspectives. One of the great challenges of coaching is getting these individuals to sacrifice for the team.

3. Winning isn't everything - It's important. At the varsity level, the goal is certainly to win, but not at all costs. The ultimate goal is to meet essential standards and expectations and teach the all-important life skills that team sports teach.

4. You can't please everyone - You will never please everyone, so don't try! Coaching is hard work, and the only person you can ever please 100% is yourself. So do your best, know what you are doing is in the team's best interest, and then trust and be confident in your decisions.

5. Parents have tunnel vision - Most parents have tunnel vision, which is OK. The best ones can see the big picture and understand the concept of a team. However, coaches must remember that parents see things only through this lens.

6. There will always be critics - Critics are everyone. Don't let them win. Always remember Teddy Roosevelt's "Man in the Arena" speech. Those watching are easy to criticize, but the credit always goes to those in the arena!

7. A coach's influence is special - The word 'Coach' means so much and has so much influence on others. Always remember your influence and lead with this in mind. Be a leader others can be proud of.

8. Hours are long, and pay is low - Most coaches are not doing it for the money. As a coach, you never want to calculate your hourly rate. Coaching is a calling, but for many, that is not enough. Unfortunately, we are getting fewer coaches, and the pay does not match the many challenges that coaches face today.

9. A supportive spouse is a must - A coach's time commitment means many hours away from home or absence, which can be challenging for a family. Having a supportive spouse who understands the challenges of coaches is critical.

10. The memories are unmatched! Although coaching brings many challenges, the memories created make it all worthwhile. These memories last a lifetime!

THE CAR RIDE HOME:
WHAT TO SAY
(AND WHAT NOT TO SAY)

@COACHBALLGAME

THE CAR RIDE HOME
CAN MAKE OR BREAK A KID.
IT'S THE MOST EMOTIONAL
MOMENT OF THEIR DAY.
TREAT IT CAREFULLY.

WHAT NOT TO SAY
("WHY'D YOU SWING AT THAT?")
WHAT TO SAY
("I LOVE WATCHING YOU PLAY.")

KIDS DON'T WANT A COACH
IN THE FRONT SEAT.
THEY WANT A PARENT WHO'S ON THEIR TEAM NO MATTER WHAT.

SAY THIS AFTER EVERY GAME:
"DID YOU HAVE FUN?"
"WHAT WAS YOUR FAVORITE PART?"
"WANT A SNACK?"

WHAT DRIVES WINNING

Setting the Standard

Chris Petersen

Rules are for people that can't follow directions.

Standards are for high-performing teams:

Productivity matches clarity of direction. Many leaders under-define and over-manage. In this video, you'll see how championship coaches intentionally build their HOW U—where expectations are clearly defined—to build the team's DNA that drives their program forward.

NIAAA Student Scholarships

WHO

High school senior student-athletes who have participated in 2 varsity sports for at least 2 years

WHAT

Receive up to $4,000 total in state, sectional and national level awards

WHEN

- Applications must be turned in by state deadline
- Between April-June section winners are chosen
- In July, national winners are chosen

“I care less about mistakes and I care more about responses. I don't care about the mistake that got us there. I care about what we're going to do next. We talk a lot about mental strength and mental fortitude and the skills that go into that. They're able to be themselves.”

- Jamie Morrison Texas A&M Volleyball Coach
