

Ed Troxel – 1998 Hall of Fame Inductee

Ed Troxel made many contributions to interscholastic activities during his career in education. He developed the first weight and conditioning program to be placed in the school system and become part of the physical education system. He developed one of the first complete football programs in the state, working with the Little League Optimist Program in Boise, and at junior high and high school levels.

Ed also started the wrestling program in the Boise Valley, working as coach and official for different schools to get their programs started. His encouragement led to the district and state championship tournaments. Ed's successful career as a football coach at Borah High School from 1958 to 1967 reached hundreds of young men and impacted their lives in a positive and everlasting way.
