

Ray Turner – 1985 Hall of Fame Inductee

Ray Turner went to the Southern Branch of the University of Idaho, now Idaho State University. After graduating college, he spent two years with the Veteran's Administration in Pocatello and then two years teaching and coaching at Moscow High School. Ray then entered the potato business in Wendell. Entering the potato business didn't end his service to education and Idaho's youth as he officiated, served as school board chairman, principal, superintendent, and served in many other community organizations.
