SCHOOL SPOTLIGHT

Madison HS - Speech & Debate

Bruce Benson, Speech/Debate Teacher

Describe what makes your school special?

The students we have at Madison are great each year. We have a very good faculty. I believe this helps students to take pride in their school.

What inspires you to teach/coach?

I get to see tremendous growth in students. I get to watch shy students emerge at the end of the semester with confidence.

What core values do you have for your teams?

I use coach John Wooden's Pyramid of Leadership - I teach them that preparation is more important than focusing on winning. Our focus is on preparing and doing our best. I teach them to have intergity in all situations.

What is the most rewarding part of being a coach? Getting to work with amazing students.

What are the academic and behavioral expectations for the student-athletes at your school?

We place them at a higher level as they not only repre sent themselves, but they represent their families, their coach, school and community.

What advice would you give a new coach?

Love your students!

The Necessity of Pre-Participation Physical Exam for High School Athletes

Eric Taylor MS, LAT, ATC

Family and Sports Medicine

The goal of the Preparticipation Physical Exam (PPE) is to identify any potentially life threatening issues that would put the student athlete at risk. While current evidence suggests that not all health conditions can be 100% identified, a comprehensive physical exam can offer the athlete the best opportunity to enter his/her sport in the best physical condition possible. This exam should be performed by a physician, physician assistant, or nurse practitioner licensed in the state of Idaho. The exams can be performed in a clinic or in a group (station based setting). Exams should ideally be completed 6 weeks before the athlete's season begins. This will allow adequate time for any issues to be addressed and give the athlete the best chance at clearance for participation.

One of the most important parts of the PPE is the medical history. Providing your student athletes with the forms before they get to their PPE will allow the athlete and parent to complete the medical screening questions. These questions can be invaluable to the provider(s) completing the exam. Making sure these questions are answered and the forms are signed by both the parent and the student athlete are imperative to the logistical and legal aspect of the PPE exam.

The current minimum recommendation by the Idaho High School Activities Association is for high school athletes to be screened as they enter their freshmen and junior years. Medical history should be updated yearly on an "as needed basis." This can be accomplished by the athlete's primary care physician or in a station-based setting. There are various school districts (ie. Boise and West Ada) throughout Idaho that provide, in many cases, a station-based setting as a fundraiser for their school's health care programs. Athletic trainers, employed by their school district's or community outreach programs, bring various volunteer health care providers and community volunteers together to provide their athletes with a low cost comprehensive physical exam in a station-based setting.

This format, not only allows each school a valuable outlet for fundraising, but, more importantly, athletes can be examined by specialists (ie. cardiologists and orthopedic surgeons) at various stations in order to give the athlete the best possible comprehensive physical exam. Dr. George Wade, from Idaho Sports Medicine Institute, began this comprehensive physical exam fundraiser in the Boise and Meridian—now West Ada—school districts over 30 years ago. Dr. Wade and then Meridian High School Athletic Director, Rex Johnson, embarked on a plan to provide Treasure Valley athletes an annual opportunity to give back to their various high schools through this fundraising opportunity, and, in turn, the athletes received a quality preparticipation physical exam. This annual station-based fundraiser continues in the Boise and West Ada districts today.

Providing your student athletes with the opportunity to have their required PPE done in an organized station based, or individual screening setting, is a key to keeping our athletes safe and healthy. Integrating a fundraising aspect into these exams may be a good opportunity to help fund many of our student health programs.
